THE next meeting of the Kentucky press association will be held in Lexington.

MRS. AL. MCGOODWIN represented the new Mayfield Democrat at the convention. She's a good newspaper representative.

Dr. Graham was nominated by the citizens last week to make the race for state senator from the district composed of Marshall, McCracken, Ballard and Carlisle counties.—F. & L. Journal.

We announce in this issue of our paper John W. Ogilvie of McCracken county a candidate for state senator in this senatorial district. Mr. Ogilvie has represented this district once in the Kentucky state senate and his constituents are familiar with him as a senator. We have known Mr. Ogilvie for many years and know him to be an honorable upright christian gentleman and will only say in his behalf that he is again elected to the state the people need have no doubts as to his ability to represent them.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Last Monday circuit court began here with a small attendance. The rain that fell Saturday and Sunday made a tobacco season sufficient to keep many people at home Monday, and from this cause the attendance was small. Judge Randle came in Sunday evening and Monday morning at 10 o'clock he convened court and empaneled the grand jury and after instructing them in their duties under the law he adjourned court until next morning at 9 o'clock, in order that the candidates might be given an opportunity to address the dear people. The balance of the day was taken up in speaking. Speeches were made by Maj. Harris, D. G. Park, S. B. Penn and Dr. Sam Graham. The petit jury was summoned to appear on Tuesday. Commonwealth Attorney Samuel H. Crossland never arrived until Monday evening. Tuesday morning the petit jury was empaneled and court was then ready for business. The first case called was the commonwealth against Oscar Brandon charged with cutting Sidney Parker in sudden heat and passion.

LAWYERS.

We have twelve lawyers in attendance during our circuit court. Josiah Harris, W. M. Reed, W. M. Oliver, J. M. Bean, J. M. Fisher, J. W. Dyckus, W. M. Heath, S. H. Crossland, Jas Campbell, Thomas Cook, J. C. Lovett and J. C. Gilbert.

GRAND JURORS.

The following gentlemen compose the grand jury: E. Barry, foreman, N. C. Collins, J. A. Parker, G. W. Locker, J. A. Cox, A. W. Story, J. T. Draffen, F. K. Wood, J. M. Hendrickson, T. W. Gregory, W. B. Hamilton, A. A. Cross, J. E. Cole, B. P. Dunn.

PETIT JURORS.

The following named house-keepers compose the petit jury: Joe Reed, Wm Reeves, T. F. Harrison, Hugh Heath, E. Lindsey, A. L. Roark, Morgan Cooper, Wm Rudolph, J. P. Price, Joe McElrath, J. W. Reed, R. W. Perry, E. C. Dyckus, Jr., A. H. Travis, J. H. Reeder, R. F. Jenkins, W. R. Fields, W. M. Sailing, Phil. Darnall, D. Washburn, T. B. Jones, S. L. Morgan, W. M. Cole, J. C. Clark.

MAJ. JOSIAH HARRIS, prohibition candidate for governor, addressed the voters of this county, last Monday at the court house, on the political issues now before the people. He was well dressed, and in fine condition for the occasion, and made a fine effort for the great principles of the party of which he is the standard-bearer. He had good attention, and sounds of hearty applause greeted all of his well rounded sentences. The Major, is a popular speaker, and is capable of saying all the good things about his party, which are well-pleasing to all of his followers, in this part of the state.

Mrs. C. J. Whittemore was called to San Antonio, Tex., last week by a telegram from her son, Mr. A. E. Whittemore, who has been spending several weeks there for the benefit of health. The telegram announced his serious illness, and his many friends here are hoping for a change for the better and that he may soon be permitted to return to his home.—Mayfield Monitor.

Obituary.

Died at her father's on Thursday May 26 1891, Mrs. Ida Barker, in the thirtieth year of her age, after long suffering caused by that dread disease, consumption. Like a tired child she fell quietly to sleep in that peaceful slumber that knows no waking until God shall call her on the morning of the great resurrection. She leaves a husband, three little children, a father, mother, sisters, brothers and host of friends to mourn her departure. May God's spirit cheer their sad hearts in this their great affliction.

Call not back the dear departed, Anchored safe where storms are over; On the border land we left them, Soon to meet and part no more. When we leave this world of changes, When we leave this world of care, We shall find our missing loved ones, In our fathers mansion fair.

COUSIN SUSIE.

PENN-GRAHAM.

S. B. Penn, of Ballard county and Dr. Sam Graham, of Marshall, both candidates for senatorial honors in this, the second senatorial district, addressed the people Monday, at the court house on the senatorial issues now before the people. They are both alliance men and are now out of the democratic party, and are walking and living exponents of the doctrines of the peoples party, but like two fighting cats are trying to tear each others eyes out. They are now, to the disgust of their brethren in the Alliance, trying to convince the people which is the worst and meanest man. Each one is criticising the other for the part each one took in that little convention that took place in Paducah on 23 ult. One claims the convention was packed the other denies it, one is trying the game of non-partisan, philanthropist, patriot, and so it goes. Both are opposed to "bossism" yet both are trying to be a boss. Both are opposed to conventions, rings and cliques, yet both are in a clique and were in the convention on the 23. Both played in the convention, but Graham held the winning card. How naughty these new party men are.

Uncle Jabez.

MR. J. C. GLENN, who was nominated by the democrats for representative in the district composed of Lyon and Marshall counties, is a deserving and capable gentleman and should be elected by an overwhelming majority. His home is in Lyon county.—Paducah Standard.

CIRCUIT COURT.

Several Murder Cases on the Docket.

A great crowd of people will be here during circuit court; probably the largest since the close of the rebellion, and among this great aggregation of human beings there will be hundreds of men with a watch or clock out of order, so that it doesn't keep good time; to all such persons I take this medium of informing them that I am still at Cooper's store, my old stand, better prepared than ever before to do good and satisfactory work. I solicit all kinds of difficult watch work, and will guarantee every piece of work twelve months. Thanking you for past favors and soliciting your future patronage, I am respectfully,

J. C. HICKS.

May a Member Speak.

I joined the alliance in Trigg County about five years ago. I met with the brethren regularly and we worked earnestly for the diffusion of the principles of our order. I was granted a demit and moved in to this county. Before leaving Trigg county I was invited to address a large audience at Rose's mill on the Cumberland river. In my efforts to please and if possible to direct the people aright I said:

"If there is a gentleman here who has studied and understands the principles of the democratic party and who is a democrat from principle he will vote the democratic ticket in spite of anything. If a man has studied the principles of the republican party and is a conscientious republican it is equally true that he will vote the republican ticket. I therefore beg you brethren steer clear of politics. Ours is a business and not a political institution and as certain as we permit political nondescripts, mountebanks and vipers to lead us into the uncertain field of politics as certainly will our grand cause fail of the purposes for which it was inaugurated."

Since delivering the above I have seen much to confirm and nothing to change me in my views. I believed then as I do to-day that only two great political parties can exist in this or any other government. We know that the microscopical greenback satellite is gone "glimmering through the dream of things that were." We know that local option has shrouded and is now entering the so-called national prohibition party. We know that the federalist, whig and know nothing parties are simply historical. We know that the democratic babe that was born in the inception of this government is the only political child that has ever drunk deep of the water of patriotism and become robust feeding upon the bread of human liberty. When these would be political parties of such ephemeral existence die, our democratic darling is the only living thing to see that they have decent sepulture—bless his little bones!

Now, brethren of this and other states as long as you strive earnestly to carry out the purposes for which we organized, every good man will be your friend and well wisher, but when you abandon the work of the order and begin political work with the sub-treasury scheme as a basis we look upon you as political charlatans and dupes and therefore beg to bid you affectionately adieu. J. W. JOHNSON.

The Odell Type Writer.

$20 will buy the Odell Type Writer with 78 characters, and $15 for the Single Case Odell, warranted to do better work than any machine made.

It combines simplicity with durability, speed, ease of operation, wears longer without cost of repairs than any other machine. Has no ink ribbon to bother the operator. It is neat, substantial, nickel plated, perfect and adapted to all kinds of type writing. Like a printing press it produces sharp, clean, legible manuscripts. Two or ten copies can be made at one writing. Any intelligent person can become an operator in two days. We offer $1,000 to any operator who can equal the work of the Double Case Odell.

Reliable Agents and Salesmen wanted. Special inducements to Dealers.

D. G. Park, the only candidate for common pleas judge, spoke here Monday to a very large crowd of people, and to say he acquitted himself well, would only half put it. He did not speak long, but he had the ear of every one in the court house, and when he was through we believe every one was ready to vote for him. He has gained friends in this county very rapidly since the canvass began.

Kindness.

What we term kindness is a very important element to human happiness during this probationary journey in this world and since I have made this statement I will endeavor to show the correctness of the assertion, by explaining a few of the many benefits derived by the faithful and constant study and practice of these great and grand requisites to our enjoyment and well-being in this life. First, I would ask what does kindness mean? Then will I call your attention to the word kindness. And offer this as a definition, sympathy, benevolence and goodness. Now, think and meditate one moment how few among the many, that are in the possession of such attractive, amiable, and blessed qualities as are here described. Oh! can we not see with an instantaneous glance, carelessness, negligence, and failures, mistakes and wrongs already committed in the past, for which we will ever regret, and would gladly and quickly recall the past, if an opportunity was offered us. Oh! how happy sweet, and pleasant such privilege would be, yes for the estimation, and highly honored favor and heaven bought privilege could not pass beyond our acceptance, and appreciation, but alas! gone-by chances has flown, and we are left wretchedly, unhappy and miserable, on account of our failures, and it is our sad fate to mourn and lament, the loss of precious, and golden time to do good, by bestowing some act of kindness to some poor lonely and aching heart, that would elevate their mind to a higher and more noble state, and by the performance of such duty, would obtain for our selves not only happiness, but friendship and love that would be as unfading and permanent almost as eternity itself. Oh! is it not an indispensable obligation to our associates, friends and relatives, and even those who are our enemies, and disposed to persecute and render us unpleasant. I would in addition, and by way of response to this, say while the almighty omnipotent ruler of the heaven and the universe, through his loving-kindness, and tender mercy permit us exist, we should ever live in remembrance of such duties and be ready with cheerful heart, and loving hands to meet with obedience such blessed demands. What kindness will do. It will produce more enjoyment, and happiness in this world when rightly used, than the imagination of any mind would likely consider or all the haughtiness we can possible assume. A kind sympathizing word uttered will have a soothing, and consoling effect. Persons having sweet disposition, and good nature are always admired and esteemed. Who does not desire this glorious trait of character. Good nature, what a sweet gift, it gladdens, and cheers our care-worn weary minds. Every kind act we bestow will have its influence we are apt to remember them in affliction, and death. People think very little of the value of a bow, or smile or friendly salutation, yet how little they count how often great the return. By a few soft words, and pleasant looks enemies have been made friends. A kind look, a grasp of the hand is more potent in cementing the ties of affection, than almost any one would think. Oh! then think how delightful it is to scatter the blessings of benevolence along our path-way through life. Be kind for memory often comes to us silently whispering in our ears our faults or our virtues, which disturb or soothe our repose, we should not let the hope of worldly recompense prompt us to good action.

Capt. C. T. Allen, Dr. Clardy, C. Johnson, T. S. Pettit, B. T. and W. F. Dorris have been by Mr. Boulard to court house in Madison and spend the new constitution.

THIRD WHISKEY PARTY.

Ex-Gov. St. John Files his Protest Against the Work Done at Cincinnati.

St. Louis, May 23.—Ex-Gov. John P. St. John of Kansas, arrived in the city yesterday and up in the hotel rozier. He was seen by a republican reporter and in the reply to questions, said: "Yes I am just from Cincinnati, where I went to attend the much talked of third party and reform convention simply as a looker-on. I watched the proceedings closely and I must say that as a reform convention it is the biggest failure I ever saw. All meritorious reforms were neglected, and the only thing that distinguished it from the old party convention was its visionary sub-treasury scheme, which has no foundation either in justice or common sense. It would afford no relief whatever to the very poor the class that need relief most. The idea of making the government a public pawnbroker is idiotic. Such a scheme will bankrupt any government."

"As far as a rejection of prohibition is concerned I have this to say: The convention ignored it entirely, and whenever it was mentioned it was vociferously howled down amid the greatest confusion. No other party convention was ever more subservient to the liquor interest than the one which just met at Cincinnati under the guise of reform. Really it could not be called a convention. It was simply a mass meeting and not a very large one at that. Kansas had 411 delegates, called, Ohio 317, and the great state of New York had as many as two. Ohio and Kansas together had a majority of all the delegates, so called. There were seventeen states and territories without representation. Ought such things as that to be a national convention? The failure to express even cordial sympathy for the cause of temperance or morality will drive thousands out of the movement in to the prohibition party ranks. It is simply the birth of the third whiskey party."

The trial of Clay King for the murder Posten at Memphis last spring is now in progress at Memphis. Many of Mr. King's friends interested in the result of this trial.

A whine has been put up by some of the millionaires that their motives in opposing the new constitution have been impugned. The Post does not think such is the case. The millionaires are working and spending money to defeat the new constitution because it interferes with the privileges they now enjoy. The new constitution is framed for the whole people, and not for the favored few. It is not impugning motives to state that self-interest is the engine that moves the millionaires. On the other hand, it is presuming that the people are simple-minded to declare that corporations and their wealthy owners are exerting themselves and spending their money purely for the public good. They are not built that way. The Post has no intention of abusing or maligning any one for the fight they are making, but it intends to open the eyes of the people to the class of interests that is fighting the new document, and to the advantages to be derived from its adoption.—Louisville Post.

The adoption of the new constitution will bring about many little reforms that are needed at home, among which we will mention the reduction in the number of magistrates in this county. At present we have only eight districts, but sixteen magistrates, but after the adoption of the new constitution the number of magistrates will be reduced from sixteen to eight. Eight can perform the duties and attend to the business of the county just as well, and even better, than the sixteen; besides it will be a saving to the county of at least $25.00 a day during the sitting of the court of claims. The great object in good government is to increase the facilities of doing business and at the same time reduce expenses. This one item will save the county at least $200 each year. These little extravagancies have continued to creep in under the looseness of the old constitution, which can now be remedied under the new, and it is only reasonable to suppose that our people are willing to make any improvement they can and will almost unanimously vote for the new constitution.

The Whiskey Question.

Last Saturday was the sixth election for this town on the whiskey question. The first one was held in May 1874. It was an exciting election and much feeling was manifested by many who took part on that memorable day. It was the first time that such an election has ever been held on this question, and many people thought it was a step in the wrong direction; that it was taking certain rights from the people that should be let alone; that compulsory laws meant an abridgment of the rights and privileges of the people and if persisted in would gradually make everybody subservient to the whims and caprices of the bigoted fanatics. On the other side were men who believed that the sale of whiskey should be controlled by the people of the town or community in which it was sold. Each side was contending for the better end, and though the vote was small, yet the interest was great, and when the polls closed the vote stood 17 votes for option and 16 votes against it. The election was contested in the courts and from some irregularity in the holding of the election, the court decreed it off and a license was issued and saloons opened up again. The next vote was taken on the first Saturday in June 1881, but no such interest was taken there as in 1874, but both sides did some lively little work in quiet way. The vote stood at this election 26 votes for option and 23 against it. Only two years passed until the appointment to the option, desired, and other vote but the citizens of the town had lost their interest in the merits of the option law and many contented it and pronounced it almost a signal failure. Yet neither side took much stock in the election and only a small vote was polled, as is shown by the number of votes cast. The result of the vote taken in June 1883 is as follows: 25 votes for option and 21 against it. The option remained undisturbed for four years, when in June 1887 another vote was taken in order to get saloons back into the town. There was a great fall off of enthusiasm on the part of both sides, and another small vote was polled, giving 25 vote for option and 21 against it. It was claimed by many that the moonshiners and drug stores dispensed more whiskey, than was actually needed for medical use, and again in 1889 another vote was taken, giving 31 votes for option and 25 against it.

This was the last election held until last Saturday when another vote was taken in which a lively interest was taken by several parties on both sides. The polls were open at 6 o'clock in the morning and the election dragged along with seemingly but little interest until 7 o'clock, the time to close the polls began to draw near, then the clans began to go to work. The option men were ahead by one or two votes nearly all day. Both sides began to know that the vote would be a close one, and the workers for and against option began to contest every inch of ground, and every available man was hustled up to the polls and voted. Excitement was running high, and bitter feelings were noticeable on the faces of many voters were being challenged and the constitution law expounded from every part of the hall. Finally the judges announced the polls closed, amid an unusual excitement and demonstration. The result of vote as announced is as follows:

J. M. Bean for police judge received 78 votes A. J. Boyd for town Marshal, received 77 votes. There were five trustees or city dais elected by the following votes: J. M. Fisher 55, E. Barry 47, M. B. Cooper 66, Pete Eley 67, and J. R. Lemon 54. For the sale of spirituous vinous or malt liquors, there were 78 votes polled, 39 for option and 39 against, so on the whiskey question the vote even or a tie. This leaves it as it was before, option will remain in force two more years.

NOTES

It is claimed that several illegal votes were cast, and that a contest is yet to take place about their legality.

A local option election now is not what it once was.

All the colored gentlemen voted for the option to the utter disgust of the anti-option.

It is in a local option election that the Lamb and Lyon lie down together.

It is by temperance that temperance laws are made.

Local options are a success, but the elections are failures.

THE ARENA

THE BOSTON REVIEW.
Containing the best thoughts from the greatest brains of the age, on social, ethical, religious, and economic problems.
Each issue contains one or more magnificent full-page portraits of leading thinkers on plate paper.
Each issue contains a complete story bearing a great moral truth, by an eminent author.

Rev. Cyrus A. Bartol, D. D., The Distinguished New England Clergyman, writes as follows:
"The place that was waiting for a periodical, not only free and able, but catholic and comprehensive,—fair to every thinker and just to every while open to any subject in which our common humanity was concerned,—in my judgment you fill. The Arena is wider and loftier than any other broad or high church. It is the most cosmopolitan of any magazine in this country or the world."

PRESS COMMENTS.
"What leading critical journals say."
"Full of mental stimulus, of breadth and vitality."—Boston Traveller.
"The Arena is a fine magazine of the best writings."—N. O. Freeman.
"At the head of magazine literature of a superior sort, and is more particularly designed for educated minds."—New York Times.
"From the beginning this periodical has shown a comprehensiveness and breadth of plan and a liberality in its treatment of current questions of the day which have commended it to thoughtful readers everywhere."—Evening Transcript, Boston.
"The Arena must be numbered among the comparatively few periodicals indispensable to all persons who would keep in the van of current discussion regarding the important questions of the day."—Boston, Boston.
"For enterprise, courage, liberality, and ability THE ARENA is conspicuous in the periodical literature of the New World."—Harvard Times.
"It fills a place between the Gracery and the Edinburgh Review. Many distinguished contributors supply its pages with fresh and original papers, representing the latest phases of thought in morals, religion, literature, and events. It is a progressive magazine, beautifully printed, often illustrated, and strong in idea and character."—Quebec Chronicle.
